TWO MINUTE TRAINING

SUBJECT:

'Twas the Night before Christmas – The 29th Annual and Final Edition

'Twas weeks before Christmas, and throughout the Site,
No waste shipments moving, no working this night.
It is November 10th, so just go with it,
Time for me to write, the final “Two Minute”.

It was sometime near midnight; my writing was blocked.
My mind tried to wander; my hands were deadlocked.
I was stressed for ideas; any topic would do.
But I had no ideas, I had not a clue.

When outside my office, I became aware,
Of a rustling sound, which could be a bear!
Yes, I am in an office, and on the 6th floor,
But it could happen, it has happened before!

I peeked out my door, and what do I see?
It is Santa Claus, but it's not Christmas eve.
I asked, “It's only November, why are you here?”
He said, “I heard your retirement, is getting near.”

This time I looked lost, my life in transition,
I said, "Yes, it is time, for my life's next edition.
What I've done for so long, I cannot just end it,
So I'll be a part-timer, to keep myself in it.”

“It's not full retirement, I'll be working part time
But I'm not starting early, no earlier than nine!
And if you have a question, and don't want to guess,
You can always email me, at my gmail address.”

Santa was relieved, that I would be around,
To answer his questions, with answers I found.
He did have a question, “A question?” I say,
He asks, “Would you like, a ride in my sleigh?”

Of course I want to ride, away in your sleigh,
But I do have to be back, in less than a day.
He said time is no issue, at the speed of light,
We'll go around the world, and all in one night.

I jumped to the sleigh, and the reindeer did see,
A different co-pilot, a mortal like me.
Santa grabbed up the reins, and with a slight jerk,
The reindeer rose up, and went right to work.

As we arose to the sky, I turned back to look,
At my wife yelling to me, “This will be on facebook!”
So much for the mystery, of Santa's existence,
She's going to out him, and with my assistance.

RCRA has been good to me, from the beginning,
With all my friends, to this 9th inning.
It has been a good run, after thirty-seven years,
So Merry Christmas to all, and all future New Years!
