TWO MINUTE TRAINING

SUBJECT: 'Twas the Night Before Christmas - The Twenty-Eighth Annual Edition

'Twas the night before Christmas, the year almost gone.
The pandemic enduring, and now omicron.
Writing from my couch, the next Two Minute Training,
Struggling for a topic, with very little straining.

As I sit in my house, remembering the year,
There is this loud noise, "What did I hear?"
As I open the door, I am startled by the sight,
Of a figure dressed in red, their clothes trimmed in white.

It must be Santa Claus, as I peer through the door.
And still socially distanced, at six feet or more.
I ask, "How is it going, going for you?"
He says, "It is like last year, it is deja vu."

"No issues with Covid, with North Pole isolation.
But I am not protected, from higher inflation.
As the GDP ramps up, with the increase in buys,
It is harder to keep up, and I'm the one who flies!"

I ask about the toys, "Are the toys getting through?"
He says, "It is a struggle, but we do what we do.
The supply chain issues, have caused a delay,
With some toys trapped, in the bay of LA."

I feel it too, when an order is late
But that's online shopping, at any rate.
There are some good things, some positive effects.
I now know the driver, that brings my FedEx!

"As we have a tradition, for many years past,
Do you have a question, that you'd like to ask?"
Santa had a question, that causes confusion.
"Am I eligible for, the Household Exclusion?"

The exclusion could apply, to your workshop debris,
Since your house has a workshop, on this we agree.
For the household exclusion, Santa understood,
He can manage as trash, his paints and his wood.

Santa was relieved, "Well THIS year is through.
And we can look forward, to 2022!"
As Santa lifted off, pulled by eight-plus reindeer,
He shouted, "Happy Holidays to All, and a Happier New Year!"
